

Dear Juzi-user, activist-groups, organizers, and visitors of course we people in Juzi are thinking about how to handle with corona. The current state of debate (16th of march) is summarized below:

But before we are focussing on Juzi, we want to recommend the linked text, in which a lot of thoughts were well summarized: <https://justpaste.it/ruhevordemsturm>

We see our selves in charge of slowing down the spread of the virus for the effect to support the healthcare system and protect the group of vulnerable people. We want to act in solidarity and to partake with this statement because the spread can only be slowed down by social distancing. That means for all of you we have to stop social events, lectures, concerts, bar evenings and so on.

That's why we decided to cancel all public events but to stay accessible in terms of resources which maybe needed.

What does this mean in concrete?

concerts and parties:

The authorities prohibited events with more than 100 participants up to the 28th of march. (<https://www.goettingen.de/aktuelles/coronavirus-einschraenkungen-im-oeffentlichen-leben-2020-03-13.html>) We don't want to start a discussion about the amount of people coming together safely. As we said before, we want to cancel all public events due to the want of acting in solidarity. We are not sure when we can allow events again, there is even the possibility to extend the period of prohibition until April.

bar events, cafes, Soliküche, Infoladen and workshops and other public events

Even they are not officially prohibited, we see at them like at concerts and parties and due to that we cancel them too until the end of March.

Group-activities, bands etc.

Read the linked text above and think about the necessity of your activities carefully. Does the plenary, the rehearsal and so on take place? If you find no other solution it can be helpful to meet open-air. That means not to reduce social contacts but to lower the risk to spread the infection via surfaces.

The access to the computers and the workshop will be maintained. But please take the responsibility and act in accordance to the situation. So only a few persons, who are healthy and who will wash their hands carefully before entering and who will ventilate the used rooms. Without exception.

Ko at Thursday

The Ko is a public event and that's why we cancel it too. So the Juzi is until further notice only via email juzi@juzi.de contactable. But there are people who take care regularly about the necessities in the house. With requests for concerts will be dealt too but maybe with delay.

What can we do in meantime?

There are a lot of other facilities and organisations which will be hit much harder than the Juzi because they are relying on your visits financially. They also have to go on paying their rents. There also people who are working in collectives, who are missing their earnings. Please let them not alone.

Furthermore we want to call you to be in solidarity with your neighbours. If you are fit and healthy and equipped with enough resources you can do a lot to support people. People who are hit harder in these worse times than others. For example people in bad pre-existing conditions are vulnerable in particular and can be more affected by a serious or deadly course of disease. We are calling to support these people by helping them in social isolation besides the social distancing of our selves for the effect of slowing down the spread of the virus. Solidarity can be to offer to do the shopping and to take a walk with their dogs.

Refugees, homeless people, people in precarious employment, single parents etc. are less able to handle the situation on their own. They are in need of our support and solidarity.

Maybe comrades in quarantine or comrades who are back at home coming from an area of risk and are in voluntary quarantine are in need of our support.

Also you should start right now to think about who can support you in case of your quarantine.

Solidarity is the order of day.

In Solidarity, your Juzi
